ANNOUNCEMENTS

Face Masks

In accordance with the latest AHS directives, face masks are mandatory for all in-person church services.

Stay social!
Phone someone different,
every day!

Children's Programs

Nursery – At this time we are operating the nursery on a self-serve basis. Parents can supervise their children as necessary.

Sunday School - Please pray for the Sunday School and those teaching the children.

Fellowship Time

Pre-packaged snacks and beverages are available in the fellowship hall between meetings. As per following Covid protocol as well as for your and others safety, we ask you please use wipes on the taps and press buttons of our machines before and after each use, as these are considered "high touch" areas. Used beverage containers should be put in the blue recycling bins, rather than the garbage. Please maintain social-distancing protocols as you visit! Thank You from the Social Committee.

Bethel Online

We will continue to offer Bethel Online via Zoom from 9:30 (Breaking of Bread) until the end of the Family Bible Hour. Those wishing to participate audibly in the Breaking of Bread, should use the Zoom 'Chat' feature first, so that the host can un-mute you. Please be patient with the sound techs as technology can be unpredictable.

Bethel Bulletins

Bulletins are ONLINE on the website for those who are unable to come in to church to receive one. Just go to the Bethel Website and enter the password on the 'Member's Page' to access it and other Bethel Information such as the Annual Meetings etc. If you've forgotten the password, talk to Frank, Sonja or Bethany.

Bethel Food Pantry

We are currently hosting a Food Bank initiative for our neighbourhood. Non-perishable food stuffs and donated clothing are available free of charge every Monday afternoon, 3-5 PM. If you, or anyone you know, is in need of some extra food assistance, access to the food storage can also be arranged during the week. For more information, or to help out, talk to Frank Parker.

Bethel at Meadowlodge

Come join us as we head out to Meadowlodge Bible Camp for a Bethel Sunday afternoon Picnic following the Family Bible Hour on Sunday June 13th. Bring a bagged lunch/refreshments and plan to enjoy fellowship that afternoon out in the country. We hope to organize some games in the meadow and possibly have a campfire, if there is no fire ban. If you have any questions, please talk to Sarah T or Sonja I.

MBC 60th Anniversary

This year is the 60th year of ministry for Meadowlodge. An anniversary celebration is planned for June 30th & July 1st: All Day Activities, Memories & Games; Tuck provided at 3pm; Campfire service at 7pm.

See the poster on the Camp bulletin board, mark your calendars and plan to attend!

Meadowlodge Bible Camp

In anticipation of a loosening of restrictions this summer, Meadowlodge is pressing ahead with plans to run a full slate of camps – albeit as day camps. The schedule, along with camper registration and volunteer application forms are available at <https://www.meadowlodgebiblecamp.org/>. For more information talk to Frank Parker, or check the camp bulletin board in the fellowship hall.

DRC Container Project

As mentioned previously, we are pressing ahead with sponsorship of a shipping container of medical equipment, educational supplies, food staples and clothing to Eastern Congo. If you would like to support this project, you can either include it in your regular offering envelope (noted on the outside), or a separate envelope designated DRC Container Project. For more information talk to Pascal Gisenya.

Change to Bethel Directory

Please make the following change to your Bethel Directory:

Five Hundred Fortieth Posting

June 2021

Nehemiah 4

We left all hands at work for the building of the wall about Jerusalem. But such good work is not wont to be carried on without opposition; now here we are told what opposition was given to it, and what methods Nehemiah took to forward the work, notwithstanding that opposition. I. Their enemies reproached and ridiculed their undertaking, but their scoffs they answered with prayers: they heeded them not, but went on with their work notwithstanding, Nehemiah 2:1-6. II. They formed a bloody design against them, to hinder them by force of arms, Nehemiah 2:7; Nehemiah 2:8; Nehemiah 2:10-12. To guard against this Nehemiah prayed (Nehemiah 2:9), set guards (Nehemiah 2:13), and encouraged them to fight (Nehemiah 2:14), by which the design was broken (Nehemiah 2:15), and so the work was carried on with all needful precaution against a surprise, Nehemiah 2:16-23. In all this Nehemiah approved himself a man of great wisdom and courage, as well as great piety.

Nehemiah 5

How bravely Nehemiah, as a wise and faithful governor, stood upon his guard against the attacks of enemies abroad, we read in the foregoing chapter. Here we have him no less bold and active to redress grievances at home, and, having kept them from being destroyed by their enemies, to keep them from destroying one another. Here is, I. The complaint which the poor made to him of the great hardships which the rich (of whom they were forced to borrow money) put upon them, Nehemiah 5:1-5. II. The effectual course which Nehemiah took both to reform the oppressors and to relieve the oppressed, Nehemiah 5:6-13. III. The good example which he himself, as governor, set them of compassion and tenderness, Nehemiah 5:14-19.

Nehemiah 6

The cries of oppressed poverty being stilled, we are now to enquire how the building of the wall goes forward, and in this chapter we find it carried on with vigour and finished with joy, notwithstanding the restless attempts of the gates of hell to hinder it. How the Jews' enemies were baffled in their design to put a stop to it by force we read before, Nehemiah 4:1-23; Nehemiah 4:1-23 Here we find how their endeavours to drive Nehemiah off from it were frustrated. I. When they courted him to an interview, with design to do him a mischief, he would not stir, Nehemiah 6:1-4. II. When they would have made him believe his undertaking was represented as seditious and treasonable, he regarded not the insinuation, Nehemiah 6:5-9. III. When they hired pretended prophets to advise him to retire into the temple for his own safety, still he kept his ground, Nehemiah 6:10-14. IV. Notwithstanding the secret correspondence that was kept up between them and some false and treacherous Jews, the work was finished in a short time, Nehemiah 6:15-19. Such as these were the struggles between the church and its enemies. But great is God's cause and it will be prosperous and victorious.

Nehemiah 7

The success of one good design for God and our generation should encourage us to proceed and form some other; Nehemiah did so, having fortified Jerusalem with gates and walls, his next care is, I. To see the city well kept, Nehemiah 7:1-4. II. To see it well peopled, in order to which he here reviews and calls over the register of the children of the captivity, the families that returned at first, and records it, Nehemiah 7:5-73. It is the same, in effect, with that which we had, Ezra 2:1-62 What use he made of it we shall find afterwards, when he brought one of ten to live in Jerusalem, Nehemiah 11:1; Nehemiah 11:1.
